December is always a time of celebration at NCPD in more ways than one. Firstly, Trinidad and Tobago joined the rest of the world in commemorating the United Nations (UN) International Day for Persons with Disabilities (IDPD) on Saturday 3rd December. This year’s celebration coincided with the 10 year anniversary of the adoption of the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD) by the UN General Assembly. The theme for this year’s observance was “Achieving 17 Goals for the Future We Want” referring to the 17 Sustainable Developmental Goals (SDGs) and NCPD launched a social media campaign building up to the day. We hope you enjoy reading about it in this issue.

Secondly, Monday 5th December, 2016 marked NCPD’s 52nd Anniversary of providing vocational rehabilitation to persons with disabilities. From its first intake of 7 clients with physical disabilities, the organisation currently has an enrolment of 250 youths and adults with varying types of disabilities (physical, sensory, intellectual, developmental and learning).

As we come to the close of another year, we take this opportunity to reflect on 2016 and are thankful for our successes, in spite of the challenges faced. On May 24th, NCPD won the JB Fernandes Award for NGO Excellence in Trinidad and Tobago.

Our achievements are only possible through the combined effort of our various stakeholders, inclusive of our voluntary Board and our Staff.

Our Vision

To be a World Class Social Enterprise promoting social inclusion for persons with disabilities.

Our Mission

To empower persons with disabilities through vocational rehabilitation, training, advocacy, research and consultative services in partnership with diverse stakeholders.
Thank you, to all of you, for your continued support.

As we look forward to 2017, we hope to see more concrete actions being taken to implement the UN Convention on the Rights for Persons with Disabilities to ensure that we achieve an inclusive society.

We take this opportunity to wish you happy holidays, and a safe, peaceful and productive 2017.

Did you know

- Over a billion people, about 15% of the world’s population, have some form of disability.
- Between 110 million and 190 million adults have significant difficulties in functioning.
- Rates of disability are increasing due to population ageing and increases in chronic health conditions, among other causes.
- People with disabilities have less access to health care services and therefore experience unmet health care needs.

Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorder (ADHD) also known as hyperkinetic disorder is a neuro-behavioral disorder characterized by inattention, hyperactivity and impulsivity.

Symptoms of ADHD are usually noticed at an early age and may become more visible when children begin school or during the ages of 6 to 12.

Three key features that define ADHD are inattention, hyperactivity and impulsivity. Individuals with ADHD may present with both inattention and hyperactivity/impulsivity, or one symptom pattern may predominate.
Disability and the 17 Sustainable Development Goals

By Lisa Bholai

On September 25th, 2015, 193 Member States of the United Nations, including Trinidad and Tobago, unanimously adopted the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) with 169 specific targets were identified to be achieved during a 15 year period.

The SDGs seek to build upon the foundations created by Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and achieve what these did not accomplish. The SDGs, unlike the MDGs, identify Persons with Disabilities (PWDs) as a vulnerable group.

“Disability is referenced throughout the targets of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals, and specifically in parts related to education, employment, accessibility of human settlements and others related to addressing inequality, as well as data collection and monitoring of the SDGs themselves. This is momentous.” Daniela Bas, Director of UN Department of Economies and Social Affairs’ Division for Social Policy and Development

To further concretise the goal of inclusion in the SDGs, the UN announced “Achieving 17 Goals for the Future We Want” as the theme for International Day for Persons with Disabilities (IDPD) 2016, which was commemorated on Saturday 3rd December. As UN Secretary General Ban Ki-moon indicated in his 2016 IDPD message, ‘the 2030 Agenda is based on a pledge to leave no one behind’. The CRPD was adopted by the UN General Assembly in 2006 and this year’s International Day for Persons with Disabilities coincides with the 10 year anniversary of its adoption.

The SDGs are described as being Universal, Integrated and Transformative.

They are Universal because they apply to all nations and all sectors. All countries, cities, businesses and schools are called upon to act.

They are Integrated since all of the goals are interconnected, therefore one cannot seek to achieve only a single goal, but to achieve all of the goals.

They are Transformational because achieving these goals will make fundamental changes to the world we live in.

To observe this year’s International Day for Persons with Disabilities, NCPD engaged in a social media campaign highlighting how it is contributing to each of the goals.

NCPD recognises, though much has been accomplished, there is still more to be done to achieve these goals.

Goal 1 - End poverty in all its forms everywhere
NCPD offers vocational rehabilitation in order to reintegrate persons who have acquired a disability during their lifetime back into the workforce. We also offer certified vocational training as well as internal and external job placement.

Goal 2 - End hunger, achieve food security and improved nutrition and promote sustainable agriculture
The Centre offers training programmes in Agriculture/Horticulture and Food Preparation. Good Agricultural Practices are incorporated into the curriculum to ensure food safety and innovative farming practices such as composting, aquaculture and soil conservation are taught in order to reduce negative environmental impacts. The produce is used by our food preparation trainees, who are also taught about the importance of a well balanced diet, to promote proper nutrition and to encourage healthy eating.

Goal 3 - Ensure healthy lives and promote well-being at all ages
The organisation provides a positive environment where trainees of all ages and abilities are encouraged and supported. Inclusion is a way of life at the Centre. In addition to skills training, trainees benefit from a holistic programme where many trainees are actively involved in sports, music, art, craft and counselling.

Goal 4 - Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning op-opportunities for all
The Centre provides PWDs with quality training and rehabilitative services that enhance their quality of life and promote their integration into the wider community. Training programmes include agriculture/horticulture, beauty culture, food preparation, garment construction, information technology, office administration, welding, bookbinding, and woodwork. Trainees also participate in and have access to remedial education, life skills training, computer literacy training, entrepreneurial training, music, art and crafts, sports, vocational counselling and social services.

Goal 5 - Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls
NCPD, as an organisation, is committed to the equality of opportunities for both females and males. This is reflected in the composition of our programmes. For example, female trainees are enrolled in the predominantly male oriented classes of Welding and Agriculture and male trainees in the predominantly female oriented garment construction class. We also conduct our assessment process in a manner that does not discriminate against prospective clients or current population.

Goal 6 - Ensure availability and sustainable management of water and sanitation for all
We are managing our water and our waste! An Agri Composting initiative has been implemented which reuses organic waste to grow crops. Trainees at the Centre have also learned to fashion horizontal beds.
on the slopes to retain water in the soil, thereby reducing wastage, while they have learnt to incorporate water and sanitation best practices into their life skills training.

Goal 7 - Ensure access to affordable, reliable, sustainable and modern energy for all

Through initiatives such as Health and Safety Day, trainees are learning about affordable and eco-friendly energy alternatives that can incorporated into their everyday lives such as using energy saving bulbs in place of incandescent bulbs.

Goal 8 - Promote sustained, inclusive and sustainable economic growth, full and productive employment and decent work for all

NCPD places persons who have successfully completed their programme and have obtained their Craft Certificate, in relevant on-the-job training through apprenticeships. The apprenticeship programme allows apprentices to gain knowledge from experienced staff and obtain job-specific skills. These persons are placed with the goal of one day joining the workforce in full and productive employment. A number of apprentices have successfully completed their apprenticeships and have become employed.

Goal 9 - Build resilient infrastructure, promote inclusive and sustainable industrialization and foster innovation

Both of the organisations locations have been designed with wheelchair users in mind. They feature expanded doorways and built-in access ramps for increased mobility and ease of access and accessible washrooms.

With regards to sustainable industrialization and innovation, we have embraced the concept of social entrepreneurship and have a business services sector offering a wide array of services including, but not limited to, catering services, custom woodwork, the refurbishment of furniture, wheelchairs and crutches & other mobility aids. These business services complement the skill areas taught in the vocational training programme and allow for practical experience through the apprenticeship programme, at the same time creating employment for those who are unable to seek open employment, whilst generating revenue for the Centre.

Goal 10 - Reduce inequality within and among countries

NCPD participates in local and international technical meetings as well as facilitates disability awareness sensitisation sessions in schools, communities, businesses and public sector organisations. We have advocated for PWDs at various fora in the public and private sectors and have initiated many other activities to promote the advancement towards a society for all.

Goal 11 - Make cities and human settlements inclusive, safe, resilient and sustainable

In November 2015, Massy Stores in collaboration with NCPD pioneered a Parking Permit Drive at Massy Stores Trincity, Westmoorings and Gulf View. This was the first step towards ensuring that differently-abled customers have easily accessible and sufficient parking at all Massy Stores locations across the country

Goal 12 - Ensure sustainable consumption and production patterns

The Centre practices the 3 R’s - reduce, reuse and recycle! One example of this is tetra pak recycling initiative which started earlier this year. After collection, the used beverage cartons are made into new products and given a new life. The 3 R’s help lessen the amount of waste sent to landfills and dumps, thereby protecting natural resources.

Goal 13 - Take urgent action to combat climate change and its impacts

The organisation introduced paper recycling into the book-binding curriculum. The paper-recycling trainees not only learn how to develop market ready products in order to generate an income, but also help to reduce a negative climate impact.

Goal 14 - Conserve and sustainably use the oceans, seas and marine resources for

The Centre helps to protect oceans, seas and marine resources by utilizing aquaponics which reduces dependence on marine fish and helps eliminate harmful fertilizers which would otherwise run off into the waterways and oceans. Aquaponics combines the raising of fish and growing of plants on land, without soil or chemicals. The fish waste provides food for the growing plants and the plants filter the water the fish live in.
Goal 15 - Protect, restore and promote sustainable use of terrestrial ecosystems, halt and reverse land degradation and halt biodiversity loss
NCPD practices sustainable agriculture which is much better for the environment, for public health and for human communities. We have reduced land erosion on one of our slopes through the stabilizing of affected areas with bamboo and compact wood shavings from the woodworking department.

Goal 16 - Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels
The Centre provides consultative services to public and private sectors, and civil society organisations seeking to develop their service offerings, policies and programmes for PWDs. We have been engaged in a number of initiatives at the local, regional and international levels to promote equal opportunities for PWDs, particularly in the areas of education, training and employment.

Goal 17 - Global Partnership for Sustainable Development
Our success and achievement over the years is largely based on partnerships with all sectors and diverse stakeholders. These partnerships have allowed us to expand our facilities, increase the number of programmes offered as well as the number of persons served. It comes naturally to NCPD to seek out partnerships, as we have expertise but lack resources. Such partnerships have allowed for a wider reach for our advocacy campaigns. Without partnerships, NCPD and many other organisations of and for PWDs would not be able to offer their services.

NCPD is committed to doing its part towards achieving the 17 SDGs. We see ourselves as a partner in achieving the 17 SDGs and in achieving an inclusive society.
Giselle Ramose joined NCPD as a Social Worker in November, 2016. She holds a Bachelor of Social Work from the College of Science, Technology & Applied Arts of Trinidad and Tobago (COSTAATT) and is a Certified Mediator. Her internship was at Student Support Services Division of the Ministry of Education.

Krystel Theodore-Branker was recruited as a Remedial Instructor at NCPD in November, 2016. She holds a Bachelor of Science in Psychology from St. Andrews University, USA and has ten (10) years working experience in Special Education.

Eat Breakfast. Be Happy

Put happiness at the top of your to-do list by starting your day with a perk-up breakfast. Eating breakfast does more than give you energy and nutrients. It is a mood changer.

Start your day with something that makes you feel good like oats with honey, whole grain toast with bananas, almonds or eggs, and veggies. No more feeling hangry! (hungry and angry)
